Transit Authority Moves to End New York Subway Strike

Orders Return to Work Today or Face Loss of Jobs

NEW YORK (AP)—The New York City Transit Authority moved today to break a crippling strike on its giant subway system by ordering strikers to return to work by 3 p. m. or be fired.

The TA told 2,600 members of the Motormen's Benevolent Assn. and members of six other small unions who Monday night joined the strike that if they wanted their jobs they must give up their fight against domination by the giant Transport Workers Union.

The TA offered bonuses to those who work. It set up dormitories in the subways for "loyal" employees and promised time and a half for overtime and for those who sleep and eat on TA time.

A 25 per cent bonus will be paid operating and maintenance personnel who have worked or will work during what the TA called the "trying circumstances" caused by the strike that began Monday.

Mayor Robert F. Wagner abandoned his "hands off" stand on the strike and called an emergency session of key city officials. He cancelled all appointments to "devote full time" to the transit crisis.

But the TA ultimatum and the mayor's action were small consolation for millions of New Yorkers faced with the immediate problems of getting to work, buying Christmas gifts, and carrying on their lives in a normal manner.

The worst transit snarl in the city's history threw the lives of five million subway riders out of kilter. They milled around on subway platforms, or stood in the rain waiting for jammed busses that passed them by. Many simply gave up and did not report for work or school.

The subway strike, which halted more than two thirds of the trains, forced riders to turn to unfamiliar forms of transportation. They surged into railroad stations, where long lines formed at ticket windows. At Grand Central terminal, Pennsylvania station, and at suburban train stops, the police threw up wooden horse barricades to cope with the milling masses.

The MBA called the strike to protest a Transit Authority ruling that subway workers must select a single bargaining agent in an election scheduled for next Monday. They and a number of other small craft unions had sought to escape domination of the giant Transport Workers Union through craftwide elections offering a choice between the TWU and the splinter groups.

Nine Killed When Navy Plane Explodes in Flight; One Survivor

CORPUS CHRISTI, Tex. (AP)—A twin-engine Navy P5M airplane exploded in flight here Monday, killing nine of the ten men aboard, including an aviation machinist who was hitch-hiking a ride to Baltimore, Md.

An engine on the right wing of the plane exploded after the take-off from Corpus Christi Naval Air Station, blowing the wing off and sending the plane crazily spinning into a mesquite thicket where another blast tore it apart.

First reports from the Navy said eight men were killed and that another managed to bail out safely. Later, when the bodies were removed from the plane to a funeral home in Corpus Christi, it was found nine men had perished in the crash.

Passenger Perishes
The extra body, identified from dog tags, was that of Aviation machinist Carl P. Renn. Renn boarded the plane in Corpus Christi to fly to Baltimore after flying in on another plane. Neither plane listed his name on their manifests.

The man who escaped with his life was identified as Sam Gariffo, an aviation storekeeper. Gariffo managed somehow to bail out of the plane after the first explosion.

He is listed in excellent condition at the Naval base hospital despite deep head burns.

One of the other eight dead men also managed to bail out, but the plane was too low for his parachute to open.

Live ammunition in the plane, from Patrol Squadron 46, San Diego, Calif., exploded as rescue crews fought to put out the fire and recover the bodies of the men.

The plane was en route from San Diego to Jacksonville, Fla., and Baltimore, Md. It had stopped overnight at Corpus Christi to refuel.

Victims Identified

The Navy Monday released the following identifications of the men killed in the crash.

Lt. Comdr. James N. Scofield Jr., the pilot, Coronado, Calif.; Aviation Machinist 2-C John J. Lanna, Chula Vista, Calif.; Aviation Structural Mechanic 3-C Richard R. Kiermaier, San Diego, Calif.; AL 2-C Paul N. Faircloth, Jacksonville, Fla.; Aviation Electrician Daniel S. Kwas, Detroit, Mich.; Lt. (j.g.) Howard B. Dickerson, the co-pilot, Arlington, Va., and Renn, address unknown.

Identity of one of the dead men has not yet been released.

Rotarians Give Opinion on Area Development

A questionnaire, from the Saline Valley Development association, was given Monday to each member of the Rotary club. This questionnaire is to be given to groups within all of the communities in the Saline and Gallatin county area. The purpose is to obtain a cross section opinion on the problems and needs of these two counties.

Included are questions about individuals, business firms and organizations who usually are the most influential in deciding whether a community project can be successfully carried out. Also, there are questions about our community which modern industry takes into consideration when selecting a new plant location. The results of this survey will be reported to all communities participating and will provide valuable information for the various community groups wishing to sponsor improvement projects.

Offers 7-Point Farm Program

CHICAGO (AP)—Charles B. Shuman president of the nation's largest farm organization, today called on the government to stop fixing prices, halt purchases of farm commodities for storage and make major changes in the soil bank plan.

The American Farm Bureau Federation president said his long-range program is designed to reduce government controls over the farmer and return agriculture to a free market price system.

Shuman proposed a seven-point legislative program to replace "political nostrums" which have plagued farmers in "a difficult economic situation when most other segments of our economy

Dr. Carleton M. Saunders, superintendent of schools, said Monday that pageants on religion are illegal in New Jersey. He said township schools have presented such pageants every year, but that this year was the first time any parents complained.

The action meant cancellation of several scheduled nativity pageants. The ban does not include pageants about Santa Claus.

Gov't Raises Pay Of Scientists

WASHINGTON (AP)—The government today raised the salaries of 48,000 federal scientists and engineers now on the payroll and 4,000 more who are to be hired in the next 12 months.

The move is the latest in a series of measures to meet Russia's scientific challenge.

It was taken, the Civil Service Commission announced, "on the basis of evidence the government is unable to obtain critically needed scientists and engineers in sufficient supply at present pay rates."

The raises will range from $135 a year in one middle-rank salary scale to $1,080 a year for a higher ranking government scientist. The increases go into effect late this month.

The decision will cost 25 1-2 million dollars a year, a civil service spokesman said.

Adams Proposes Constitutional Amendment On the Presidency

Would Permit Vice President to Rule in Case of Disability

ST. LOUIS (UP)—Presidential Assistant Sherman Adams has called for an amendment of the Constitution which would allow the vice president to take over the president's office in case of disability.

"Delay of a presidential decision due to incapacity for a day, or even for a few hours, could have grave consequences," Adams warned.

President Eisenhower's recent "minor stroke" made it apparent Congress must "face up to this fact" and approve a constitutional amendment next year, he said.

Adams spoke Monday night at a Republican fund-raising dinner. He said that at present "there is no unchallenged constitutional method by which the vice president can officially become acting president should the president be incapacitated for any length of time."

Adams said Congress has done nothing except hold hearings in the face of Eisenhower's proposal last March that something be done to bridge "this serious constitutional gap."

Under the President's proposal, he said, either the president himself or the Cabinet could declare the chief executive incapacitated and direct the vice president to assume his duties and powers temporarily.

"Action should be taken by Congress during the coming session," Adams said, whether the President's plan be "adopted in exact detail or not."

Indications at present are that Congress, with or without administration prodding, will not approve a constitutional amendment in the next session. Although some members of both parties approve the idea, Speaker Sam Rayburn (D-Tex.) has said he sees no reason to change the system that has been in operation for years.

Ratification of the amendment by the required 36 states could not occur before 1960, even if approved by Congress, Adams said.

The presidential assistant also indirectly tagged the lag in missile development on Sen. Stuart Symington (D-Mo.) and called for his defeat in the 1958 elections. Symington, who has been critical of administration air power policies, was President Truman's Air Force secretary.

Adams did not mention Symington by name but said, "I think you folks here and all over . . . Missouri are going to get downright indignant about that big bomber fell from out here who somehow forgot to mind his missiles from 1946 to 1953 when he and another Missourian were supposed to be moving them along."

Joe Frailey, 57, Dies; Funeral Wednesday 2 p. m.

He is survived by his wife, Kathryn; his son, Robert Frailey, and four grandchildren. He is also survived by his mother, Mrs. Agnes Frailey, who lives with his sister, Mrs. Marie Black, a beauty operator in Harrisburg; his brothers, Bill Frailey, Rockford, and Raymond Frailey, Gary, Ind., and Mrs. Lucille Dooley, Tucson, Ariz., another sister. All of them were raised in Harrisburg.

The body is in the care of the Gaskins funeral home in Harrisburg where funeral services will be held at 2 p. m. Wednesday. Rev. Fred Neible will officiate and burial will be in the Liberty cemetery.

Expects Paris Parley to Renew Defense Spirit

Secretary Hints He Believes President Will Attend Meeting

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of State John Foster Dulles said today the North Atlantic Alliance must be made more flexible to meet Soviet military and economic challenges in the missile age.

Dulles also told a news conference that the 15-nation alliance is carefully restudying the whole question of whether local wars can be prevented from growing into global nuclear conflicts.

On the eve of the NATO summit meeting in Paris, Dulles said the character of future war is changing. For example, he said, the likelihood that missiles will be used more and more is becoming a factor in the consideration of what a general war would mean to the world.

Dulles said the Soviet Union is making moves to increase its military potential and to use subversive economic warfare throughout the world.

Dulles said the changing character of the Soviet challenge means that NATO must be made more flexible. The Allies, he said, must be prepared more adequately to meet this challenge.

Dulles said he has no doubt that the summit meeting in Paris, opening next Monday, will renew the spirit of NATO to defend Europe against attack.

Decision on Ike Today

Dulles several times hinted that he expects President Eisenhower to go to Paris. He said the meeting will be attended by government heads. But when a newsmen asked whether he expects the President to go, Dulles smiled and said the answer to that question should come later today.

The White House has said a decision on whether the President will go to Paris will be made later today—after Eisenhower undergoes a check-up by his doctors to determine how well he has recovered from the mild stroke he suffered Nov. 25.

Dulles said he himself will leave Washington for Paris Thursday. He will do some "harmony" work with other Allied delegations before the NATO meeting.

Defense Secretary Neil H. McElroy already is in Europe. Diplomatic officials have said low morale among the West European Allies is jeopardizing the NATO summit meeting's chances of success. A big question was whether the U. S. delegation can make suggestions that will rebuild European morale.

Work With Stevenson Satisfactory
Dulles also:

—Said his work with Adlai E. Stevenson, his Democratic adviser on NATO problems, has been highly satisfactory and very gratifying. The cooperative effort has been carried on in complete harmony and understanding. Stevenson has made a number of useful suggestions or the conference. Dulles declined comment on Stevenson's decision not to go to Paris.

Total War

Editorial — BY BRUCE BLOSSAT
The men in the Kremlin are above all power politicians. To the extent that they are also severely realistic, hope for world peace may not hinge entirely upon the deterrent effect of our nuclear stockpile.

That stockpile promises physical ruin in the Soviet Union which not even the rashest Russian likes to contemplate.

But even if that sort of retaliation were not the prospect, men whose creed is power and nothing else may well have the gravest doubts that war is ever a wise course for them.

The kind of total war we fight in the 20th century, with or without nuclear weapons, is totally unsettling. No government which engages in such warfare can be confident of its future.

Modern war is so vast as to be unmanageable. Its effects not only are uncontrollable. They are to a large degree unforeseeable.

It used to be said that war was an instrument of policy, that men undertook it deliberately to achieve specific, stated objectives. Any man in power anywhere in the world today who imagines that is still true must be rated a potential menace.

Once launched upon, total war takes forms and directions of its own. Not only its result but its aftermath is unpredictable.

A callous regime might discount the frightful cost in human life and property. It cannot disregard the peril to itself. For war warps all political, economic and social patterns. It is a bold—and foolish—man who thinks he can force the shape of things after the battle dust settles.

The Communist leaders in Moscow have often in recent Russian history made serious mistakes. They are no supermen, for all their Sputniks.

They sadly misjudged Hitler's aims toward them in World War II. This was an error almost fatal. Again and again they have sabotaged their own purposes through stupidities that seem inherent in the Communist way of thinking.

Yet despite these important failures of judgment, Soviet leaders are shrewd, hard-headed, dedicated men. They are dedicated to the preservation of their own skins, and to the maintenance and enlargement of their power.

So long as they themselves see realistically the danger war represents to them, we may be safe from another holocaust. Heaven help the world if ever their vision

Economists Keep Wary Eye On Soviet Production Speed-Up

By PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON —(NEA)—Detailed Washington analyses of Communist Boss Nikita Khrushchev's latest surveys of the Soviet economy reveal a tremendous rate of Russian industrial growth.

One extreme interpretation of the figures is that the Russians are not only winning the battle of production—they may already have won it.

This conclusion is based on the fact that the Russian economy is now strong enough for mass production of weapons equal to the West's.

Russia is now completely self-sufficient in arms production. In event of another World War, the Russians would not be dependent on lend-lease aid such as they got in World War II.

The battle of production in World War III will of course be different from what it was in World War II. In a nuclear war, whichever side takes the initiative can destroy the other side's war production potential in a short time.

FOR A LIMITED war of the Korean or Indo-China variety, industrial production capacity is not the deciding factor.

It is forces in being at the start of either an all-out war or a brush fire war that will count the most. And here the Russians can challenge the United States in everything from tanks to guided missiles, though they have a smaller economy.

U. S. gross national product of goods and services will be over $25 billion dollars this year. On a comparable basis, Russian gross national product is only 40 per cent of that, or about 170 billion dollars.

In simpler terms, the per capita consumption of the average Russian is less than a third of the average American's.

By American standards, the Russian "worker's paradise" is poverty-stricken. The Soviet government treats civilian consumption like a necessary evil, to which it makes grudging concessions and great promises from time to time, to keep the people contented.

IT IS WHERE the Russians channel their efforts that gives them the advantage in arms production. This is best illustrated by comparative steel capacities and rates of growth.

Russian steel production in 1956 was 48 million tons. For the U. S. it was more than double that, 104 million tons.

But a great deal of U. S. steel production goes into automobiles, washing machines, refrigerators, housing and building construction. Very little Russian steel goes into such things. Russia produces only 100,000 automobiles a year, in comparison to the nearly 6,000,000 produced in the U. S.

Most of the Russian steel production is plowed back into heavy industry. In capital goods—factories, power plants and heavy machinery—Russian steel consumption is close to American. In machine tools, Russia last year produced more units than the U. S., with a 25 per cent greater value.

It is the Russian steel expansion program, however, which is causing American economists the most concern.

IN 1941, after the German invasion, Russian steel production was cut from 20 million down to 12 million tons. Today it is 51 million tons. The increase is over 24 million tons a year for 16 years.

If Russia maintains this same rate of steel expansion for the next 15 years, her capacity will be close to 90 million tons a year by 1972. Khrushchev's goal is to make it 100 to 120 million tons. This is greater than U. S. production today and more than double Russian production today.

Khrushchev's other goals for 1972 would put Russia ahead of U. S. production today in iron ore, coal, petroleum, electric power, cement, woolen fabrics and shoes.

Khrushchev also promises the Russians that he will give them equality with American production in meat, milk and butter by the early 1960's. He may not make that one, however, for the simple reason that cows can't calve that fast.

The important point in all this is the tremendous rate of growth in the Russian economy. The Russian claim is that they will be able to accomplish in 50 years what it has taken the United States 180 years to do.

This has a wide appeal to under developed countries like Egypt, India and Indonesia. The Russians lose no opportunity to drive this argument home.

BIBLE THOUGHT FOR TODAY

Neither do I condemn thee, go sin no more, John 8:11.
Humanity will forgive nearly any sin of men but women are in a different category. Even men throw stones at women who share the same sins. Christ was chivalrous.

College Club Meets With Mrs. Richard Jelliffe

The Saline County College club held its November meeting at the home of Mrs. Richard Jelliffe recently.

The Rev. Glen Daugherty discussed Life magazine's excellent recent publication on "The Great Religions of the World," elaborating on the Hindu and Mohammedan beliefs. He then showed slides (also the work of Life magazine) to illustrate his talk. The College club members were fascinated by the unusual stories told, and following the Rev. Daugherty's discussion, they enjoyed relating erroneous ideas they had formerly had concerning the two religions and asking further questions.

During a brief business meeting members voted to contribute to the Christmas Seal fund, and also to the drive for the benefit of the "Mentally Retarded Children's Association."

Mrs. Walton Chunn, assistant of Mrs. J. J. Klein, chairman of the finance committee, reported that "Sleeping Beauty," the play presented by the SIU players, in October, and sponsored by the club, had been successful. Members voted to send sincere thanks to the city school board, Russell Malan, superintendent of schools, and others who so graciously permitted use of the Junior high school.

Presentation of the SIU plays is the major money making project of the organization and proceeds in the past have been used to augment the scholarship fund for needy college students. In addition, the club presents gifts of educational value to the various schools.

Mrs. James Arensman, chairman of the vocational committee stated that she was working with Mr. Bauman, guidance director at HTHS, in planning a more effective use of the College club's educational funds. The possibility of giving the tea for the College-Night open house was discussed.

At the suggestion of Mrs. Fred Lindsay, secretary, members voted to purchase pennants from the various colleges which they have attended; they plan to use these on a traditional float to appear in each homecoming parade in future years.

Following the close of the business meeting, Mrs. Jelliffe and her assistant hostesses, Mrs. Bill Beasley and Mrs. James Sullivan, served chocolate eclairs, salted nuts, and coffee. Missing from the committee was Mrs. Leland Cutting. Members expressed regret at losing Mrs. Cutting, who recently moved to Chicago, where her husband has been transferred by the Social Security Administration. Before departing, everyone, including the Rev. Daugherty, enjoyed an inspection tour of the lovely new home of the Jelliffes.

The next meeting will be a Christmas party at the home of Mrs. James Arensman, Dec. 19. All members are urged to attend.

Union Grove Home Bureau Unit Meets For Christmas Party

The Union Grove Home Bureau unit met in the home of Mrs. Hobart Somers for its regular meeting and Christmas party Thursday afternoon. Mrs. James Bond, chairman, presided and roll call was answered with uses for old Christmas cards. Mrs. Noble Williams gave the minor lesson, "Gifts From the Kitchen," and the group sang Christmas carols. Mrs. Noel Bond told a Christmas story.

Following an exchange of gifts, refreshments were served to 16 members and three guests.

The January meeting will be held in the home of Mrs. Otis Stone. It was announced that the handicraft club will have a Christmas party in the home of Mrs. Lee Edwards at 1 p. m. Dec. 17. The members were asked to make the gifts for the exchange.

The Ohio state capitol at Columbus is considered the purest example of Doric architecture in America.

Charter Members, Past Presidents Honored By Woman's Club

Mrs. John B. Lee and Mrs. J. B. Blackman were present to represent the charter members of the Harrisburg Woman's club at the luncheon meeting held in their honor at the club rooms of the library Monday. The more than 17 past presidents attending were honored also, and were presented with poinsettia plants.

Miss Bess Penberton in her tribute to the charter members and past presidents gave six "make-believe" murals, painted with words, each representing a distinctive period in which the club was influential in the life of the community.

First Miss Pemberton spoke of the organization in 1904 when the club was organized and was the only woman's organization of its kind in this section of Illinois. She spoke of its primary aim to get a library room for the community and the enthusiasm with which the 25 active and five social members attacked the project.

Miss Pemberton's mural was a scene on the public square looking east from the corner drug store, Gregg and Gregg, which is now Barter's Rexall. She described the horses at the hitching rack, floundering in the mud of the public street, the narrow "elevated" sidewalks on which the women balanced in their "morning glory skirts." The old courthouse, since replaced with the present structure, the sign on the "Palace clothing house" which offered men's suits and overcoats for $9.90, hats for 69c and pants for 95c. She also related that the women's full petticoats, designed to wear under the gored skirts were offered for 25c.

Mrs. D. H. Hiller sang "Memories" following the description of a party held in Mrs. J. B. Blackman's home at which the husbands of the new club's members were entertained in exquisite style.

Mrs. Philip Durham placed a star on the Christmas tree for each of the attending charter members and lighted a candle for those who had served in those pioneer years and were not now present.

The next mural was a scene in 1917 when the first 19 Harrisburg young men were leaving for military service. The scene opens in the home of Mrs. Dora Reynolds at 3 a. m. and the young women of the club and the community are preparing box lunches for all military personnel who would be on the "Big Four" when it came into the Harrisburg station. This was a scene widely known for the hospitality and patriotism expressed by this small Illinois town. Mary Lou Sullivan played "How're You Gonna Keep 'Em Down On The Farm," "Smiles" and "My Buddy" as typical of this period.

Mrs. Charles Combe was honored as a president of this period and a candle was lighted for those not present.

Miss Pemberton showed a word mural of a scene at the Country club of 1927. This was the "flapper" age. The club was new and the most luxurious one of its kind in this whole area.

Marriage Licenses

John C. Smith, 75, Eldorado, and Anna May Smith, 76 Flint, Mich.
E. D. Karns, 68, and Mary Brown, 77, both of Eldorado.

Miss Pemberton described a party and a presentation of a most cultural venture, "Madame Butterfly," in which the talents of Mrs. P. W. Sherman and Mrs. A. I. Favreau were added to the beauty of the decorations planned and arranged by Mrs. Roy Seright. Mrs. Edith Webster Rumsey and no doubt an assist by the club president, Mrs. Harry Woolcott. The skirts of the guests were so short that they would never quite cover the ladies' knees "waists" were long and the stylish "pot-hats" were everywhere in evidence.

"My Blue Heaven" was a song typical of the "boom" philosophy of the time and Mrs. D. H. Hiller sang it for the group to accompany this festive scene. Mrs. Woolcott and Mrs. Ralph D. Brown, past presidents, were honored with stars placed on the tree and the memorial candle was lighted for the absent past presidents of this period.

Mrs. E. B. Webster was one of the attending president of the next "mural" period shown. This was the 1930s and the women of the club were not too different from the membership now. Fashion was modified, the depression years were beginning to fade into the past and "Happy Days Are Here Again" was one of the hopeful popular songs of the time. Mrs. Sullivan played this on the piano and the past presidents were honored with stars placed on the tree by Mrs. Durham and a candle for those not present, was lighted by her.

The 1940's were depicted by Miss Pemberton with a look at "Pearl Harbor." Men were again marching in uniform and serious consideration was given to the humane problems of the minority groups in our country, such as the American Indian, and benevolent projects were being stressed. Miss Pemberton chose a "Children's Party" given at the club for her mural. This was a Christmas party colorful and laughter filled. The nostalgic songs about Paris were the vogue and Mrs. Hiller sang "The Last Time I Saw Paris" accompanied by Mrs. Sullivan, as an example.

For the 1950 period, Miss Pemberton said, "Let us take today. The clubroom is beautifully decorated and many of the past presidents are here to enjoy the fine luncheon served in their honor. I take today as my mural."

There were several of the presidents of the 1940 and 1950 period present and they were each honored with a star on the tree and the last memorial candle was lighted.

Following a brief business meeting presided over by Mrs. W. W. Dameron and acknowledgment of the efforts of additional workers for the success of the day, the meeting was adjourned.

Mrs. Dameron thanked the luncheon committee: Mrs. Wm. Biggers, Mrs. F. N. Russler, Mrs. C. W. Gates, Mrs. Paul Hatfield, Mrs. Merle Guar and Mrs. J. A. McGuire. Mrs. Harry Barter was co-chairman with Mrs. Durham.

Appeal to Aid Korean Orphans Receives Response

A recent issue of "Sabre Star," Army Air Force publication at Kimpoo, Korea, devoted a page to the response made to an appeal for aid to Korean war orphans and to Major Ezra H. Ferrell, son of Rev. and Mrs. W. E. Ferrell on West O'Garra street, Harrisburg, near Sunset Hill.

Major Ferrell, who has been in the Army since 1939, has been in Korea for the past six months. His wife, Theresa, and their children, Joe, Dickie, Jerry, Bobbie and Margaret, are at Pavillion, Wyo., at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ben Hudder.

Major Ferrell and M-Sgt. Raymond A. Bender, Mrs. Bender, and Sister Philomena, the latter in charge of the orphanages, sent out the appeal for clothing for the Korean children, and over 12,000 pounds were received.

There are 457 children at the orphanage which is at Incheon, and they were made happy as the boxes and barrels were unloaded by Major Ferrell and Sgt. Bender.

WCTU Holds December Meeting

The Harrisburg WCTU met Tuesday, Dec. 3, at the Church of God on Charleston street.

The meeting was called to order by the president, Mrs. Louis Gall Jr. After the call to worship a hymn, prayer and a short business meeting was held. November is roll call month and the union now has 117 members, 30 of them new ones.

The devotions were given by Mrs. Gall. Her subject was The Vanishing Pedestrian, which was a discussion of walking with God. Immediately following the devotions a memorial service was held for Mrs. Bessie Aldridge.

Mrs. Aldridge was a member of the Charleston Street Church of God so it was fitting that the memorial service was held in her church.

Mrs. Muriel Holland reviewed a chapter in the study book for this year, "A Case for Total Abstinence."

The next meeting will be Jan. 7 at the McKinley Avenue Baptist church.

The Channel Swim

By WALTER EWALD
United Press Staff Correspondent
NEW YORK (AP)—The channel swim:

Part of the reason for Arthur Godfrey's success certainly must be chalked up to his by-play with the ladies that drop into his shows. Monday night on "Talent Scouts," Godfrey flirted with his first pretty talent scout and twiddled his face soulfully when he sniffed his second lady scout's perfume.

"Person To Person" landed Tyronne Power and his Manhattan flat for its Dec. 20 airing on CBS TV. That new look for the ABC TV "Frank Sinatra Show" means live programs with Dinah Shore and Sammy Davis in January.

Casualties: Red Skelton won't be able to make his CBS TV show to night—he tore a ligament in his ankle. A filmed Skelton show will be run off. Piper Laurie pulled out of the cast of NBC TV's "Twelfth Night" set for Dec. 15—Rosemary Harris will take over her role of Viola.

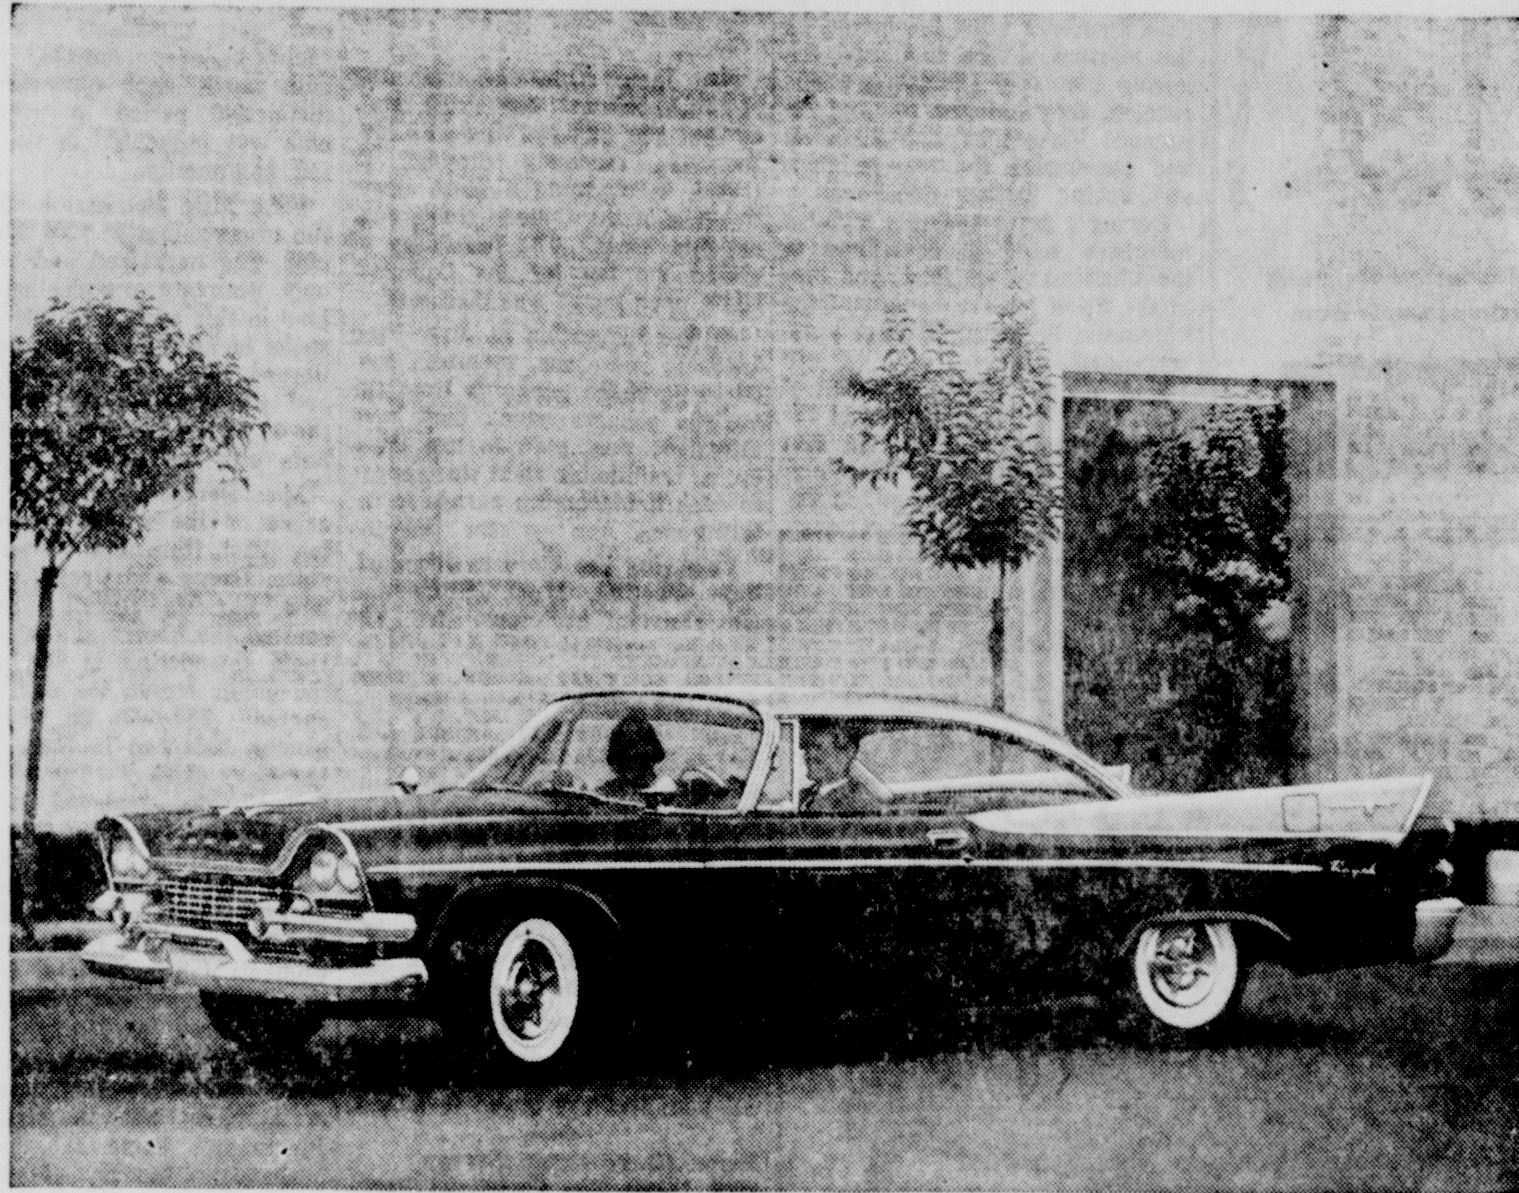

Robert Ryan is a fine actor. It's a shame to see him wasted in tripe like Monday night's "Good Year Theatre" on NBC-TV.

Richard Wall, the research chemist who's bagged $26,500 on NBC-TV's "Twenty One," looks

'Cowboy' Christmas

MULKEYTOWN, Ill. (UP)—The small fry here like their cowboys all year 'round, even at Christmas.

Seventh and eighth graders at the Mulkeytown school wrote their own Christmas play this year and are holding tryouts this week.

It is called "Christmas in Dodge City," and characters are based on those in the television western "Gunsmoke."

Cold Wave to Hit Area Tonight

SPRINGFIELD (UP)—The Weather Bureau here warned that cold weather, intensified by strong northwesterly winds and snow flurries, will hit central Illinois later today.

The cold wave will reach northern Illinois this afternoon and spread over the entire state to night, the bureau said. Temperatures were expected to reach zero to 10 above in the northern and central sections, and 10 to 20 degrees in the south.

Bonn Officials Claim Snubbed

McElroy Flies to Berlin After Satisfactory Talks in Britain

LONDON (UP)—Defense Secretary Neil McElroy flew to Berlin today for an inspection tour of U. S. forces. Bonn government officials said he was returning to "occupation days" by snubbing his West German counterpart.

McElroy's three days of London talks turned up plans to station U. S. intermediate range ballistic missiles (1,500-mile) in Britain and coordinate the armed forces of the two countries more closely.

The British apparently were well satisfied with the talks. But McElroy was faced with indignant Germans who complained they were not getting the same treatment.

McElroy will spend three days in West Germany before going to Paris for the NATO "summit" conference.

Met With British Leaders

McElroy held several conferences with British leaders, including Prime Minister Harold Macmillan, Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd and Defense Minister Duncan Sandys.

Britain's military chiefs of staff were called into a special meeting Monday. Informed sources said they were told agreement had been reached to build several IRBM launching sites in Britain, one probably to be manned by U. S. troops.

A communique issued Monday night said Sandys and McElroy had reviewed the progress of plans made at the Bermuda conference last March to supply Britain with IRBM's and "it is hoped to finalize the agreement very shortly."

Wright Plans Talks

U. S. Adm. Jerauld Wright, commander in chief of NATO's North Atlantic fleet, flew into London Monday night for talks with top Royal Navy officials in advance of the Paris NATO conference.

McElroy's visit to Europe stirred up the Kremlin. Moscow Radio charged Monday night that his trip is "a desperate attempt to patch up the widening rift in the North Atlantic bloc."

A Soviet commentator also said U. S. policymakers such as McElroy, former Defense Secretary Charles E. Wilson and Secretary of State John Foster Dulles deliberately were fostering the cold war at the bidding of "big business" in the United States.

In Ankara, Turkish Premier Adnan Menderes said Monday night that the United States had agreed to give the Nike guided missiles and Honest John rockets to Turkey.

The Panama Canal was acquired during the administration of President Theodore Roosevelt.

Navy Fires Guided Missile

EDWARDS AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (UP)—The Navy today showed off its new Regulus II, a hypersonic guided missile soon to become operational aboard fighting ships and submarines, in its first semi-public demonstration.

The missile, which can carry a nuclear warhead and was designed to replace the Regulus I—now carried on surface and undersea craft—was launched at about 10:20 a. m. e.s.t. from this desert base.

The surface-to-surface missile, capable of flying at twice the speed of sound and smashing down on a target more than 1,000 miles away, was guided on a flight of about half an hour and then brought in to a landing on its retractable tricycle landing gear by a jet "chase" plane. The missile used today had been "recovered" twice previously in this manner.

The Navy described the test as successful.

The flight of the nearly five-story high missile, witnessed by newsmen, was conducted under simulated shipboard conditions.

The Navy said the firing was not "just a demonstration," but a regular part of the final testing program for the Regulus II.

The 57-foot Regulus II has more than twice the range of the Regulus I, which is 30 feet long. It could be fired from a submarine far at sea to hit a coastal installation or city with a nuclear bomb.

The radio-controlled missile differs from a ballistic-type missile in that it can be guided in its flight and perform elusive maneuvers in order to reach its target without being destroyed or detected. A ballistic missile is aimed before firing.

ages" done by "unwise government programs."

But he recommended these legislative steps:

1. "We should move at once to discontinue the use of price supports as a means of fixing prices of basic commodities and return to the use of price supports as a safeguard against extremely wide fluctuations."

2. "Government purchases for storage should be discontinued as quickly as possible."

3. The price support program should be "supplemented by the use of recourse commodity loans and encouraged by purchases for immediate disposal for relief of disaster conditions at home and abroad."

4. "The flow of commodities into the Community Credit Corp. should be halted and presently held stocks of farm products should be withheld from the domestic market except in an emergency."

5. The law which authorizes the exchange of surplus farm products for foreign currencies should be continued until present CCC stocks are sold abroad and then discontinued.

6. "We should discontinue acreage allotments and marketing quotas as rapidly as possible." Shuman said this can be done immediately in the case of corn.

7. The soil bank program "should be changed so that it will encourage adjustments in production rather than serving as a crop insurance plan," and acreage in the soil bank should not be used for any farm production.

Traffic Deaths Up In Area

DU QUOIN, Ill. (UP)—Illinois' new speed limit law has not cut the death toll on southern Illinois highways.

Eleven persons were killed on highways in the 17 counties making up the Du Quoin State Police District 13 last month. That brought the year's total to 106, which is 11 more than were recorded in all of 1956.

Five of last month's fatalities occurred in Alexander County, two each in Williamson and Hamilton counties, and one each in Jefferson and Pulaski.

Bank Bandits

Get $95,637

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (UP)—Police today sought two bandits who held up a branch bank of the Citizens Fidelity Bank and Trust Co. of $95,637 Monday in the biggest bank holdup in Louisville history.

Police said the pair who herded six customers and 13 employees in a line while they grabbed up the money in the cash drawers and night depository bags, made off in a stolen car, later found abandoned.

Police theorized a third man picked up the bandits in a late model, cream colored station wagon.

Five Miners

Killed in Cave-In

GLEN ROGERS, W. Va. (UP)—Five miners were killed Monday night in a cave-in at a Raleigh-Wyoming Coal Co. mine near this southern West Virginia community.

Company officials said the cave-in was caused by what is known as a "mountain bump"—pressure from a mountain forcing its weight on a mine and crushing roof supports.

Searchers recovered three bodies and efforts were underway to recover the other two.

No Satellite Failures: Russia

LONDON (UP)—Soviet Russia claimed today it had no failures in launching its two earth satellites.

Moscow Radio broadcast a statement in the official Communist organ Pravda quoting Soviet professor Sedov, a member of the Soviet Academy of Sciences, on the "no failures" report.

Pravda carried articles by Sedov and by professors Muskhelishvili and Sergeyev on the occasion of the one-thousandth orbit around the earth of Sputnik I.

Sedov said the "launching of the Sputniks was preceded by large-scale preparatory work based on extensive research."

"As a result the USSR has had no failures in launching its earth satellites," he said. "Two attempts were made and both were successful."

Speaking of the United States difficulties, Sedov said, "This bears out once more the complexity of this task. I believe the American specialists will before long succeed in launching earth satellites. The Soviet scientists sincerely wish them success."

Cashier Faces Charges of Embezzling To Pay For Booze, Women, Blackmail

CHICAGO (UP)—Edward Komis, 24, a cashier-bookkeeper today faced charges of embezzling about $75,000 to pay for booze, women and blackmail.

Police said Komis, a $350 a month "up and coming employee" at the Chicago Spring Hinge Co. confessed Monday he took the money largely to pay off a team of blackmailers who learned he was stealing from the petty cash box.

The confession related that Komis apparently had spoken of his raids on the petty cash box while in a bar and that a blackmailer had overheard him, police said.

Komis allegedly told police he received a mysterious telephone call shortly afterward warning he would be exposed to company officials if he did not pay $25 a week. Police said Komis was told to put the money in lock boxes at a downtown Chicago bus depot and then put the key in pre-designated places.

Demands for money which came from two men and a woman, increased over a period of 2 1/2 years, police said. The highest demand was for $1,000 in one week.

In order to meet the demand, Komis forged the signature of either Paul J. Smalls, vice president of the company, or Martha P. Holtz, corporate secretary, to forward checks, police.

Police said that in addition to the drinking bouts the neat, bespectacled Komis admitted he sent flowers to as many as five women and spent $388 for them in the last two months.

Komis lives with his wife and 3-year-old son, and has been employed at the company for 3 1/2 years.

The Eiffel Tower, in Paris, designed and built for the Paris Exposition of 1889, cost more than $1,000,000, all but $292,000 of which was paid for by its designer, Alexandre Eiffel. The balance was contributed by the French government. In payment, Eiffel was allowed to collect visitors' admission fees for 20 years. Profits in 1889 almost paid the entire cost of the tower.

First U. S. civil service examinations took place in July, 1883, for clerkships paying $1,000 a year.

HAND-PICKED for MURDER

Copyright 1937 by Robert Martin
THE STORY: Jim Bennett, a private investigator, got off on the wrong foot with a new client, a heavy set, quarrelsome man, gets locked in jail after a fight with Jim. The next day, Jim goes to Howell, introduces himself and in spite of everything Howell asks Jim to break up a romance between his son, Wayne Howell, and a predatory woman.

VIII
HOWELL sighed again, shrugged, and moved an arm in a hopeless gesture. "But if he'd just drop this woman, I wouldn't care. She'll ruin the boy. I want it busted up." He squinted up at me. "Think you can do it?"

"Probably," I said, "if I wanted to. But I'll need to know more about it."

He wagged a finger at me. "Don't get on your high horse. If you won't do it, I can easily get somebody who will."

I nodded. "Fair enough. Maybe one of the other men you hired would be willing to try again."

"How do you know about them?" he asked sharply.

"Your son told me. He came to the jail last night looking for you."

That got him. He shifted his gaze, drained his glass, and then said, "I sent word I wanted to see him, but I didn't think he'd come." "He came, all right, but the chief advised him to wait until today. You were in no condition to talk to him. He knows about the other men you hired to break up his romance. And he suspects that you've hired me to try and do the same thing. I don't like it that way, but I couldn't help it. The chief knew who I was, told his daughter, and she let it slip to Wayne. He and the woman will be on their guard now. Anyhow, I don't know what I can do about it. How far do you want to go?"

"What do you mean?" "Please," I said wearily, "don't act so innocent. If you want a frame job with a flash camera over the transom, I don't do that kind of work. But if you want me to investigate the woman, maybe talk to her and your son, okay. I don't guarantee results. Maybe it's the real thing and they love each other. You can't fight that."

"Look—she's older than Wayne, and she's been around. And Wayne is young, inexperienced—he thinks she's Snow White or something. If she really gets her hooks into him, marries him..."

"Maybe it's too late," I said. "Wait, Bennett."

I paused and turned. "It's like this; my wife had, well, queer ideas. Wayne was her only child and she babied him. She put the two hundred thousand in trust for him, but there's a gimmick and she made it stick—legally.

had plenty of cash and the shop. I didn't begrudge the money to Wayne, not until he took up with this woman. Then I began to worry.

"Why?" I asked. "I'm afraid she'll get it—and then run out on the boy."

Something ugly was building up in his little red eyes, but he kept his rasping voice under control. "You need the money," I said. "Your son's money. I'm not going out on a big fat limb until you tell me the whole story. If you don't want to tell it, that's fine with me." I turned and moved toward the door.

"Wait, Bennett."

I paused and turned. "It's like this; my wife had, well, queer ideas. Wayne was her only child and she babied him. She put the two hundred thousand in trust for him, but there's a gimmick and she made it stick—legally.

Spahn Only NL Hurler to Win 20 Games

NEW YORK — Warren Spahn was the grand "old master" of National League pitchers this year but the circuit's real strength lies in its young stars — aged 18 to 28.

The release of official statistics by the Elias Baseball Bureau showed that the 36-year-old Spahn's 21 victories for the Milwaukee Braves made him the league's only 20-game winner. It marked the eighth time Spahn entered the 20-win circle—extending his own league record for a left-hander.

At the same time, the figures actually were dominated by younger pitchers.

Podres ERA Leader

Johnny Podres, 25-year-old Brooklyn Dodger left-hander, was tops in the earned run average with 2.66 and also led with six shutouts. Spahn and 21-year-old Don Drysdale of the Dodgers tied for second at 2.69 in the ERA department.

The Braves' Bob Buhl, 29, ranked fourth with a 2.74 ERA and his .720 percentage (18-7 won-lost record) was the best among pitchers who appeared in 154 or more innings.

Jack Sanford, 28-year-old rookie of the Philadelphia Phillies, had a 19-8 record and led the circuit with 188 strikeouts. Next came the Chicago Cubs' precocious 21-year-old right-handers, Moe Drabowsky and Dick Drott, who tied at 170 strikeouts each.

Friend A Workhorse

Bob Friend, 27, had a 14-18 record with the Pittsburgh Pirates and led the league in three departments—inings pitched, 277 most starts, 38, and faced the most batters 1148.

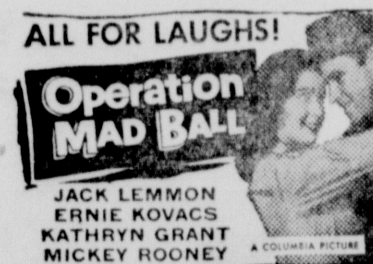

In all 12 of the 15 pitchers with the lowest earned run averages over at least 154 innings were less than 30 years old. The three exceptions were Spahn the 31-year-old Newcombe and 32-year-old Brooks Lawrence of the Cincinnati Redlegs.

There wasn't a single no-hitter in the league but one-hitters were turned in the Braves' Lew Burdette, the Cardinals' 18-year-old Von McDaniel and Cincinnati's Johnny Klippstein. McDaniel's effort was a near-perfect game in which he faced only 27 batters.

Maryland Whips Kentucky, 71-62; Chamberlain Scores 40 Points in Kansas Win

By United Press

Is Maryland really that good or is Kentucky in for an "off year?"

That's the big question in college basketball today after the unranked Terrapins whipped third-ranked Kentucky, 71-62, in the biggest upset of the season so far. It was the third straight victory for Maryland and the first loss for Kentucky after three wins in tight games.

Coach Bud Millikan said before the season he believed he could hit the "big time" if Al Bunge, a rugged 6-foot, 8-inch sophomore, came through. So it was no coincidence that big Bunge scored 16 points and won the battle of the backboards with Kentucky's John Cox Monday night to prove a key man in Maryland's triumph.

Kansas Downs Marquette

Kansas, the nation's No. 2 team behind North Carolina, defeated Marquette, 82-62, fourth-ranked Bradley crushed Arizona, 91-52, and seventh-ranked Kansas State downed Purdue, 79-73, but Cincinnati upset eighth-ranked Temple, 80-57, in other games involving top-rated teams.

Wilt Chamberlain, Kansas' seven-foot star, poured in 15 field goals and 10 free throws to set a Milwaukee arena scoring mark of 40 points and pace the Jayhawks to their fourth straight triumph.

Barney Cable of Bradley scored 16 points as the Braves breezed to their second straight victory.

Kansas State won its third in a row after the lead changed hands no less than 14 times.

Temple Loses Second Game

Sophomore forward Oscar Robertson connected on 16 of 21 field goal attempts and added four free throws for 36 points as Cincinnati handed Temple its second straight defeat.

Thinking It Over

By Robert L. Dieffenbacher, D.D.
(Written for NEA Service)

Costume jewelry looks like real gems under certain circumstances, but it is artificial. Fool's gold looks like gold ore, but it is not gold. Some bargains look like legitimate deals, but they are hoaxes. Illusions look like miracles but they are only tricks of movement or diversions of attention. Some pleasures look like satisfying actions, but they are only sins in disguise. Temptations appear to be rewarding but the ultimate cost is prohibitive. A little bit of dishonesty does not appear to hurt a person, but it does. Satan may appear attractive but he is not a friend to cultivate.

We must be certain that things are as they appear. We must distinguish between reality and fantasy. We can test solidity to determine its flaws. We can be sure that God is real. He has stood the test of time in human life.
